

Primary Resources

On the Yellow Flag website you will find resources that are useful for Intercultural Education

Any lesson can be an intercultural lesson by making space for the diverse cultures within our classrooms

We can do this by

- Seeking the views of all our students and getting to know them
- Using resources from a range of cultures
- Talking openly about ethnicity and racism
- When intercultural conflict happens, using it as a way to help everyone learn
- Recognising that our own cultural values will differ from our students - their cultural values are as legitimate as ours

To learn more about being an intercultural educator go to our online learning resource - the Yellow Flag Self Awareness Training

Key themes within intercultural education are:

- Identity and Belonging
- Similarity and Difference
- Human Rights and Responsibility
- Discrimination and Equality
- Conflict and Conflict Resolution

To see how you can integrate the Yellow Flag themes into your own subject area, see our Quick Guide here or on the Yellow Flag website.

We have selected a range of resources that you can draw from. You may choose to deliver a stand-alone programme - for example a series of lessons from The Lift Off Series or pick and choose from a range of resources, to build interculturalism into your lessons.
